

HUNDRED NEGROES KILLED

Panic in Colored People's Church at Birmingham.

Struggling Mass of Humanity is Piled Ten Feet High.

MINISTER UNABLE TO STAY THE RUSH

Booker T. Washington Had Just Addressed the Audience of 2000—Somebody Started Cry Which Was Misinterpreted for Alarm of Fire—Many are Injured.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—At 10:30 o'clock today reports from the hospital showed that ten persons, injured in last night's panic had died during the night or this morning. The bodies of several dead have been also found at homes in the neighborhood of the scene of the disaster. This runs the total number of dead close to 100 as 78 bodies were taken to the undertaking shops during the night. Investigation shows that no white persons were killed but several who had gone out to hear Booker Washington speak were injured.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—Of those killed in last night's stampede at the Shiloh negro Baptist church, while Booker T. Washington was addressing the National Baptist convention, only about forty bodies have been identified. Almost all the identified dead are local residents, while those not yet claimed are persons who are strangers and came here from various parts of the United States as delegates to the convention. Immense crowds surround the undertaking shops in an endeavor to identify the unknown dead. Intense indignation is shown by the delegates to the convention against the negro who started a fight in the gallery which led to the excitement afterward resulting in the panic and steps may be taken to prosecute him.

Reports from the hospitals this morning say that about a dozen of the injured will die. It is impossible to ascertain just how many were injured, as many were taken to private homes because of the lack of accommodations at the hospitals. This morning the death list stands eighty-four, but it will no doubt grow.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—Eighty-four dead bodies have been taken from the Shiloh Negro Baptist church where a panic occurred last night. Mayor Uppman, who is on the scene, places the number of dead at 100. But few of the bodies have so far been identified, owing to the fact that most of them are crushed into an unrecognizable mass.

Booker A. Washington, says: "I had just finished delivering my lecture on industry and the singing had commenced, when some woman back of me was heard to scream. A member of the choir yelled 'Quiet,' which the gallery understood to be 'Fire,' stampede.

"I found on investigation that a Birmingham man had stepped on the toes of a delegate from Baltimore named Ballou.

"Ballou resented it and made a motion as if to draw a gun. This caused the woman to scream. When I saw that a stampede was imminent I started the choir singing and part of the audience joined them. I remained until the excitement had subsided. It lasted for fully 20 minutes."

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—In the awful crash of humanity caused by a stampede in the Shiloh Negro Baptist church at Avenue G and Eighteenth last night, about 100 persons were killed and many more seriously injured. The catastrophe occurred at 9 o'clock just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address to the national convention of Baptists and for three hours the scenes around the church were indescribable. Dead bodies were strewn in every direction and the ambulance service of the city was utterly incapacitated to move them until after midnight. Dozens of dead bodies were arranged in rows on the ground outside the church, awaiting removal to the various undertaking establishments, while more than a score were laid out on the bench inside.

The church is the largest church for negroes in Birmingham and the pastor says that at least 2,000 persons were in the building when the stampede began. Instructions had been issued to allow no more to enter but the negroes forced their way inside the building and were standing in every aisle, even the entrance to the church being literally packed.

Just as Booker T. Washington concluded his address, Judge Billou, a negro lawyer from Baltimore, engaged in an altercation with the choir leader concerning an unoccupied seat, and it is said a blow was struck. Some one in the choir cried "They're fighting." Mistaking the word "fighting" for "fire" the congregation rose en masse and started for the doors. One of the ministers quickly mounted the rostrum and urged the people to keep quiet. He repeated the word "quiet" several times and motioned his hearers to be seated. The excited congregation mistook the word "quiet" for "fire" and renewed the struggle to reach the doors. Men and women crawled over benches, fought their way into aisles and those who had fallen were trampled upon. The ministers tried again and again to stop the stampede, but no power on earth could stay the struggling, fighting mass of humanity. The screams of women and children added to the horror of the scene and through mere fright, many persons fainted and as they fell to the floor were crushed to death.

The level of the floor is about fifteen feet from the ground and long steps lead to the sidewalk from the lobby just outside the main auditorium. Brick walls extend on each side of these steps for six or seven feet and this place proved a veritable death trap. Negroes who had reached the top of the steps were pushed violently forward and many fell. Before they could move, others fell upon them and in fifteen minutes persons were piled up on each other to a height of ten feet. This mass of struggling humanity blocked the entrance and the weight of 1,500 persons was pushed against it. More than 20 persons lying on the steps underneath the heap of bodies, died from suffocation.

Two white men who were in the rear of the church when the rush began, escaped, and realizing the seriousness of the situation rushed to a corner near and turned in a fire alarm. The department came quickly and the arrival of the wagons served to start ter the crowd which had gathered around the front of the church. A squad of police was also hastened to the church and with the firemen, finally succeeded in releasing the negroes from their pinioned positions in the entrance. The dead bodies were quickly removed and the crowd inside, finding an outlet came pouring out. Scores of them lost their footing and rolled down the long steps to the pavement, sustaining broken limbs and internal injuries.

In an hour the church had been practically cleared and the sight which greeted the eyes of those who had come to the aid of the injured was sickening. Down the aisles and along the outside of the pews the dead bodies of men and women were strewn and the cries of the maimed and crippled were heartrending. In a few minutes the work of removing the bodies was begun. The Shiloh church is located just at the edge of the fashionable residence section of the city, and all the physicians living in that part of town went to the assistance of the injured. As many of the suffering negroes as could be moved by the ambulances, were taken to the hospitals and the rest were laid out on the ground and there the physicians attended them. At least fifteen of the injured died before they could be moved from the ground.

During the stampede Booker T. Washington and several other prominent negroes were on the stage and were unwilling witnesses to the frightful catastrophe. None of those in the choir or in the pulpit were injured in the least. For a few minutes they attempted to restore order, but seeing their efforts were futile they waited until the struggling crowd had advanced far enough from them to pick up the dead and injured.

Most of the dead are women and the physicians say that in many cases they fainted and died from suffocation. A remarkable feature of the calamity is that no blood was seen on any of the victims. They were either crushed or died from suffocation.

Captain Frank O'Brien, former sheriff of Jefferson county and one of the most prominent citizens of Birmingham was a witness to the catastrophe. As he reached the front of the church, the crowd had begun blocking the entrance. In describing it, he said:

"I have witnessed many appalling sights but the wild scene at the heart of those steps is beyond description. Wildly excited negroes reached the top of the steps and began falling headlong down the incline. Others were pushed upon them and notwithstanding the warnings from the outside, the crowd continued to push. In a few minutes men and women were piled upon each other to a height of ten feet. Presently a negro woman with a baby in her arms, mounted the mass and climbing over the bodies leaped to the ground without injury to herself or the infant. As quick as possible a rescue party was organized and as soon as the entrance was cleared the removal of the dead bodies began."

Rev. Dr. T. W. Walker, pastor of Shiloh church, said:

"Shiloh church is a modern brick structure and has just been completed at a cost of $75,000. There are four entrances to the building and the main one is sixteen feet wide. The deaths were caused by everybody trying to rush out of the main entrance at the same time. Inside the church not a bench was overturned and all those killed died in or about the entrance. The people up near the front of the church were not in the least injured."

Mile Trip in Airship—The Aeronaut Coming to America.

London, Sept. 20.—Stanley Spencer, the aeronaut, who yesterday made a 30-mile trip over London in his airship, informed your correspondent this morning that he was considering going to America, but had not yet reached a decision in the matter. His trip across the water, he said, depended entirely on whether he could arrange the financial part of the journey with some American syndicate desiring to hire him to give exhibits. The extent of the prize offered for the airship contest at St. Louis would also have conclusive weight, he said, in determining whether he would enter or not. Spencer will take another flight over London next week.

NASH CODE

Has Been Fearfully Disfigured in Committee—The Two Houses are Still Far Apart.

Columbus, O., Sept. 20.—The situation with reference to municipal legislation is as far from satisfactory from the standpoint of the general welfare and as embarrassing to the Republican majority as it has been at any time since the extra session began. The Nash code has been knocked around and jumped on until it is utterly unrecognizable as the measure originally introduced. Strange to say, however, the instrument now under consideration still bears the governor's name, although it is not much nearer a "Nash code" than the York code or the Guerin code. The chances are that it will be still further emulated, but that whatever measure is enacted will be dignified by the governor's name. Meanwhile the end of the session, already prolonged far beyond the expectation of the Republican bosses, is not yet in sight. It is about settled that the statesmen will tackle the franchise question, and the school question and a new primary election law are subjects that may require and should require adequate attention. The most sanguine Republican leaders hope to adjourn the session about October 10, but the majority regard October 17 as a more probable date. It is by no means certain, however, that either will be possible. As the election approaches the Republican members are fretting under the strain, but as long as they cannot agree among themselves and cannot reconcile the Democratic minority to their plans, there is little prospect of an early end of their troubles.

A dozen men were drinking freely, and had reached the fighting stage, when one struck another. Instantly knives were brandished, and revolvers fired at close range. All the lights went out. Over fifty shots were fired. An inquest is in progress today.

The dead are: Brown Seaton, Tony Merrick, and Anton Merrick.

Fatally injured: Tony Seaton. Many others were slightly hurt by cuts and bruises.

A BLUFF

SEEMS TO BE THOSE COLUMBUS DAMAGE SUITS

Sensational and Damaging Testimony Continues to Come Out of the Work House Investigation.

Columbus, O., Sept. 20.—Frank Shanley, whose testimony in the work house investigation caused the filing of damage suits against Mayor Hinkle by former Director C. S. Carr and Matron Walters, was yesterday arraigned for perjury. His hearing was continued until next week, and in default of bail he was sent back to jail.

The investigation proceeded yesterday. Former Assistant Matron Elizabeth A. Read testified that the Directors ate and slept in the institution, and said that one of them Plaintiff had taken Mrs. Walters out sleigh riding. She also swore that at times the families of the directors ate at the workhouse. Director Carr, she said, had promulgated about building and grounds with his arm around the matron's waist. Frequently, she said, Mrs. Walters would read to him while in the private apartments of the institution. The carrying away of food by relatives of the Directors was also described by her.

Shanley, although given the "benefit of the doubt" as to his truthfulness, did not know what he was doing to the private apartments of the institution. The carrying away of food by relatives of the Directors was also described by her.

Shanley, although given the "benefit of the doubt" as to his truthfulness, did not know what he was doing to the private apartments of the institution. The carrying away of food by relatives of the Directors was also described by her.

The investigation continues today. It looks very plain that the damage suits against Mayor Hinkle and Matron Walters are in the nature of bluff.

PULITZER MURDER

Ghastly Details Revealed Today in Discovery of the Murderer Wm. Hooper Young, Grandson of Brigham Young, Who Was Probably Insane.

New York, Sept. 20.—Never in the criminal annals of this city have the police brought to light such a mass of ghastly details as are revealed today by the discovery of the identity of the murderer of Mrs. Lillie Pulitzer, the pretty young woman whose mutilated body was found anchored down in Morris Canal, in Kearney, N. J. Wm. Hooper Young, 31 years old, grandson of Brigham Young, the famous Mormon bishop, is the fiend who lured the woman to his father's home at midnight, Tuesday, dragged her, beat her upon the head with some blunt instrument and then slashed open her abdomen with a dull knife and thus ended her life.

New York, Sept. 20.—The police today believe that Hooper Young killed Mrs. Pulitzer in a moment of perverted religious frenzy. In his room were found a number of slips of paper containing Bible texts and one paper was labelled "Blood atonement." His trunk was found this morning at the Polk street depot, Chicago, but though the police searched carefully there was no trace of Young.

New York, Sept. 20.—The mystery of the murder of Mrs. Annie Pulitzer, whose nude body was found in the Morris canal near Jersey City has been cleared up by the discovery that the woman was killed in a flat at 103 58th street, where her clothing was found last night.

TO NEWARK

CAME THIS PALMIST WHO IS WANTED

By Two Columbus Women Because She Failed to "Deliver the Goods"—Queer Case.

Miss Ida Gilbert of 847 Harrison avenue and Mrs. Melling of East Russell street, both residents of Columbus, called upon Prosecutor Shields Friday at Columbus to complain that they had been humbugged by Mrs. Loreta Marrer, an alleged palmist, who for a time was at 65 East Town street, but who is now said to be in Newark. Love may find a way in some cases, but the aid of clairvoyancy, spurred on by liberal payment of cash retainer fees, failed to find a way with Miss Ida Gilbert, says the Columbus Dispatch.

Miss Gilbert was accompanied to the police station by Mrs. Melling. Miss Gilbert went into detail in relating her love affairs, and told how she had consulted the clairvoyant after she and her lover became estranged, and told of the hope the clairvoyant and palmist held out to her.

The palmist was sure that everything would right itself in Miss Gilbert's love affair, that she even promised, if the reluctant lover had not come back to her good graces inside of 21 days, to refund all the money paid to her by Miss Gilbert, a total of $22.

Now Miss Gilbert complains that she lost her lover and money both, and she has been the aid of the police in after she and her lover became estranged, and told of the hope the clairvoyant and palmist held out to her.

Mr. Gilbert related that she met Mrs. Loreta Marrer, a farmer of near West Jefferson. The two finally became engaged. About two months ago, however, she began paying attention to a West Jefferson widow. The fiancée heard of this, and then called a palmist by the name of Mrs. Loreta Marrer, at 65 East Town street, with the result stated. The 21 days elapsed some time last week, and neither the lover nor the money came back, and the palmist removed to Newark.

Mrs. Melling punctuated the recital of Miss Gilbert's love affairs with numerous injections to the effect that Captain Titus of the detective bureau who alleges that the murder was committed by a man named Hooper Young, who has recently been employed in a cheap restaurant. Titus has learned that the woman's body was kept for some time under the sink in the kitchen of the flat in which she was killed.

Young has not been arrested and is believed to have fled the city. He is said to have shipped a trunk to Chicago on Thursday.

He formerly worked for the Hoboken Crusader and the police found his picture taken with a group of employees. This picture was shown to the Hoboken liveryman who at once picked out Young as the man who hired a buggy from him on Wednesday night.

The house in which the murdered woman's clothing was found is a cheap tenement in a block containing many stables but is within a stone's throw of some of the most splendid apartment houses in the vicinity of Central Park South.

Salt Lake, Utah, Sept. 20.—Hooper Young, accused of the Pulitzer murder, is well known here. Eight years ago he was a cowboy on his father's ranch in Arizona. He then returned to Salt Lake and later to Butte and Seattle where he worked a short time on newspaper. In 1897 he went east, he does not belong to the Mormon church.

she had paid the same palmist $10 to solve the mystery of a fictitious letter which had been written to another woman about her. The mystery was never solved, and Mrs. Melling expressed a desire to get back her ten.

Teacher Dismissed.

Bellaire, Sept. 20.—The kissing episode Wednesday afternoon in which J. O. Deafenbaugh, principal of the Fifth Ward school compelled some white girls to kiss several colored girls to make up a quarrel, came to an end yesterday when the school board held a called session, and after an investigation asked Deafenbaugh to hand in his resignation, which he did, and the board appointed another man to take his place.

Some of the scholars who were congregated in the entrance to the school building yesterday morning when Deafenbaugh appeared pelted him with rotten tomatoes.

The November election will take place Tuesday, November 4. The intervening time will pass quickly, and the voters should devote a portion of it to considering the merits of the candidates. Outside of political reasons, which ought to be sufficient with the Democrats, the Licking county Democratic ticket is more worthy of the support of the voters than the Republican ticket. Compare the two impartially and this will be generally admitted.

The volcanic wave which started in the West Indies with the eruption of Mount Pelee has now reached the Mediterranean. Stromboli is sending out great columns of fire and torrents of stone. Mount Vesuvius is beginning to get uneasy and huge columns of flame are shooting up from the crater. Nor is this all. In the Sandwich Islands, Kilapuca has broken out, again and the natives predict a great eruption. A lake of molten lava four hundred feet in diameter has formed and at last accounts was six hundred feet from the mouth of the crater and was rising rapidly. Great streams of molten lava are ejected into the air and evidences of coming violent action are on hand. Even Ohio is being heard from on the volcano question.

ON SHAKING HANDS.

The Defensive Reason Why the Right Was First Used.

Did you ever stop to think about the custom of shaking hands and wonder why it is that we always shake the right hand? Probably you have never thought about it at all or if you have you think that the only reason for using your right hand is that you were taught not to use your left one, says the Buffalo Courier. In reality this custom, now so common, is a very ancient one, and it originated in this way: In the days when people were not so peaceable as they now are and when each man settled his quarrels in his own way every man carried a sword or dagger to defend himself. This sword was worn on the left side, where the right hand could quickly grasp it for use in time of peril.

Therefore when a man wished to show that he was friendly he extended his right hand, which would be clasped by the other's right hand if he, too, meant peace. Thus each could be sure that the other would not draw his sword.

With the dawn of more peaceful times the custom lost its one-time purpose, but it still retains its original meaning—to show friendship.

Atmosphere of Ceylon.

When visitors enter Horticultural hall, in Philadelphia, they pant. The heavy air, stagnant and warm and moist, oppresses their lungs. But the tropical plants in the hall would die without this kind of air, and a man said of it the other day: "It is very much like the air of Ceylon. Ceylon has just such a heat, and just such a crushing, prostrating humidity as this. Do you know that every European house out there has among its servants a clothes alier—a man whose sole duty it is to air and beat the clothes, which otherwise would become covered with a thick white coat of mildew in a few hours? I took a hundred and fifty dollar camera with me to Ceylon. The dealer had warranted the wood to be perfectly seasoned, but I had not been in the island a week before my camera had warped and fallen apart. The Ceylonese, in their horrible climate, are healthy because they eat no meat and drink only water."—Philadelphia Record.

Reverence For the Beard.

Former reverence for the beard is well illustrated by the story told of Sir Thomas More, who was beheaded for denying the supremacy of Henry VIII. His usual cheerfulness did not forsake him even on the scaffold. "Help me up," he said to one standing by, "for my coming down let me shift for myself." As he laid his head on the block he begged the executioner to wait a moment while he carefully placed his beard out of reach of the ax, for, he said, "it hath not committed treason," which reminds one of the story of Simon Lord Lovat, who the day before his execution on Tower hill made the operator who shaved him be cautious not to cut his throat, as such an accident would cause disappointment to the gaping crowd on the morrow.—English Magazine.

At a Quaker Wedding.

No clergyman is needed at a Quaker wedding because the happy principals perform the ceremony themselves. This is the formula repeated by the bridegroom at a recent wedding: "Friends, here in the presence of the Lord and in the divine presence I take this, my friend, Edith Mary Hanbury Aggas, to be my wife, promising in the fear of the Lord and with divine assistance to be her faithful and loving husband." The bride repeated a similar declaration, the certificate of marriage was signed by witnesses, short addresses from Scriptural texts were made, prayers were offered, and the ceremony was ended.—Exchange.

Japanese Fans.

Though the Japanese folded fan is a common object in this country, little is known of its manufacture. One of the largest factories is at Kioto, where an average of 3,000,000 fans yearly are turned out. Spain is the principal customer for the Kioto fans. Italy coming next in importance and then the United States and Mexico. The fans are not at all easy to manufacture, as eight different workmen are required to make a single frame, while before the fan is finished it has to pass through the hands of ten people.

THE FASHIONS FOR MEN

What They Will Wear During Autumn and Winter.

DICTION OF SARTORIAL AUTHORITY

More Color Will Be Displayed in Masculine Garments This Season Than Last—Stripes in Waistcoats and Trousers Much in Vogue.

The new patterns as well as the latest materials for men's suitings and overcoats have arrived, says a New York sartorial authority. The mysterious arbiters of fashion who promulgate their decrees in regard to coronation robes and the correct thing in livery for grooms by means of colored plates which resemble the puzzles in pasteboard of the Sunday papers have spoken.

It was to be expected that this season would see more color introduced into the patterns for fall and winter, for after all it is said and done it has to be confessed that for some reason or other we continue to get our ideas on men's clothes from London just as we seek inspirations for "creations" for women from Paris.

One distinct change from the general scheme of last year has been ordered. The padding under the title of "military" shoulders has been abandoned.

Striped chevrons will lead in material for suitings. In fact, for suits and for that extra pair or two of trousers which are required the stripes seem to be having a fairly long lining, and unless all signs fail it is not destined to end for another two or three years at least. Certainly this year the plates show more effects of this kind than ever before, not excepting the time when the exception of popularity of the stripe led to its temporary withdrawal.

To be correct in color one should choose a pattern with a foundation of brown, for this is likely to be the prevailing tone this year, although gray a little lighter in shade than last year will also be used a good deal. Red is used more freely than for several seasons past.

For the trousers alone the black and white stripe which was seen quite a great deal last year is continued in favor, but the stripes are now wider than before, and the general effect is more pronounced and delicate, without being altogether "loud."

Coats will not be so short as last year, and the wide bottoms which were made almost essential by the absurd padding and squaring of the shoulders will be dispensed with. In a word, the suits for this fall and winter are to fit the figure in a proper, natural and sensible manner.

There is no change of any particular importance in the frock coat. It will remain about the same as last year, when it was lengthened just a little.

Usters and overcoats will have little to distinguish them from these made a year ago. Quite a number will be made in the heavier suiting materials of worsteds, chevrons and tweeds.

No changes of importance are contemplated in dinner or evening dress, the silk facings continuing to extend clear to the edge of the lapels of the coats. The waistcoats worn with evening dress will be either plain white or a delicate pearl.

Waistcoats for day wear will show the popularity of the stripe, for, although there is a great showing of plain browns and tans, there are comparatively few checks, the stripes being used in the patterns offered for those who cannot be contented with the front of one unbroken color.

While more color has been introduced into suitings and nearly all materials used by the tailor, the shirtmakers and haberdashers report a revolt against the loud effects in shirtings and half hose which prevailed last year. The tone of this revolt has been so decided that the manufacturers appear to have gone almost to the other extreme, and it is stated that the goods for the fall will be almost somber in effect.

The influence of the black and white stripes in the trouserings is seen in the patterns for the new half hose shown by the best dealers, the same colors being used quite a great deal in a variety of styles, none of which, however, is at all startling or "loud." Gray and white is also a favorite combination.

In hats the higher crowns appear to have come in again for those who wear the derbies, while the soft felt is almost an exact reproduction of last year's styles, very flexible and of light weight.

A Box to Be Closed For Many Years.

Captain Ewart has commenced the erection of a mausoleum in the River Cliff cemetery at Mount Gilead, O. The walls are to be seven feet in thickness, made of stone, concrete and brick, says the Ohio State Journal. More than ordinary attention is centered about the tomb because of a peculiar provision which the captain has made. Within these walls and incased in an iron box will be a roster of all the soldiers who have served from Morrow county. The names are to be on cast iron plates. The box will be locked and the key deposited in the Morrow County bank with the understanding that the box is not to be opened for 300 years.

To Marry Beneath His Rank.

German papers, without distinction of political opinions, are making a great stir over the case of Herr Lehning, chief tax collector of Posen, says the New York Times. The holder of this office has been retired long before reaching the age limit because his fiancée, in all other respects allowed to be suitable, is the daughter of an uncommissioned officer.

FAMOUS GOODWOOD.

Something About a Historic English Race Course.

The Goodwood race course is quite unique. It is a long way from a station and is not near any town, says the London Tatler. It is on a hill the top of which is shaped like a horseshoe, the space between the two horns being represented by a deep ravine. The course runs round the horseshoe, the start being at the end of one horn and the finish at the end of the other. The result of this is that the equestrians who on other courses contrive to see both start and finish by the simple process of riding across while the race is in progress cannot do so at Goodwood. They must elect which they will see and remain there. On the other hand, the course is very easy to follow with glasses.

The races as an institution are comparatively modern, but there must have been hunt races and matches on this course since the days of William III, when we hear of the Goodwood hunt as in existence. In 1800, however, the then Duke of Richmond made a new course, which is practically the present one. In 1801 the course was completed, and in order to celebrate this a regular meeting was got up by the duke with the assistance of the hunt and some officers of the Sussex militia and yeomanry, and prizes to the value of about £1,000 were put up. This meant a good sum in those days. This was the first Goodwood meeting of importance, and from that year it became an annual event.

A Walking Fern.

Most ferns are confirmed travelers. New fern leaves grow out from the underground roots some distance away from the old plant. The average observer scarcely notices this, but there is a native fern that steps off at so lively a pace that its odd habit has long furnished one of the unceasing entertainments of the woods.

The walking fern often carpets ledges and tops of shaded rocks. The slender, tufted leaf fronds are singularly unfertile in appearance. They squirm about and "walk" by declining their taper tips to the soil and taking root there and growing. In time clusters of new leaf fronds spring from such rooted tips. By and by some of these, too, bite the earth and, taking root, start still other colonies, which in turn will continue the progress again and again. Naturally, with the lapse of time, the connection between the older tufts and the younger becomes broken, yet one sometimes finds series of three or four linked together, representing as many steps in the pretty ramble.—Country Life in America.

In on the Ground Floor.

An ex-postmaster was one of a group in a city hall corridor recently engaged in discussing queer manifestations of jealousy on the part of young men in love, a dispatch in the morning papers having given rise to the conversation. He said that the most jealous man he ever had knowledge of applied for a position in the postoffice. He brought such excellent recommendations that the postmaster was moved to wonder that the young fellow did not go into mercantile life. Pressed for a reason, he finally confessed that he was giving up a better position in order that as an employee of the postoffice he might not only get his fiancée's letters the sooner, but also might learn whether or not she received mail from any other man.—Philadelphia Times.

Rooted the Enemy.

In some of the London courts there are private dining rooms reserved for the exclusive use of the legal fraternity. Into one of these rooms one day there bustled a gaunt female who on being courteously approached by a junior counsel flatly declined to leave. Thereupon an unblinking Q. C. looked the lady in the face and expressed his mind. Still she did not budge. Counsel Lockwood then intervened. "I do not think there is anything unseemly in this lady's presence," quoth he. "She wears a gown and—yes, I'm pretty sure that she also wears a wig." The lady went.—London Tatler.

Good Openers.

"George certainly has very strong hands," said his mother-in-law grudgingly as she watched him unscrew the top of a can of preserves which had stubbornly withstood his young wife's efforts, says the Gentleman's Magazine.

All That Was Necessary.

"You must abandon all business cares for the future," says the physician. "But I fear that I have not yet accumulated sufficient money," protests the multimillionaire.
"Sufficient?" repeats the doctor.
"Why, my dear sir, you have enough money to pay physicians' fees for the rest of your life."—Baltimore American.

Bananas, English Style.

At English tables spoons are served with bananas. If the bananas are served as a single fruit course, however, they are usually sent around with a. A few drops are poured upon the plate, and the banana, stripped little by little of its skin, is dipped into this and thus eaten.—New York Post.

A Natural Development.

"Hello, Stavers! Haven't met you in some time. Still a bachelor, I suppose?"
"Not a bit of it. I've branched out in matrimony."
"Indeed! Olive branches, of course?"
—Richmond Dispatch.

Of the Platform Adopted at the Democratic State Convention.

In state convention assembled, we, the Democrats of Ohio, hereby acknowledge and declare our continued allegiance to the Democratic party of the nation and on national issues reaffirm and endorse the principles laid down in its last national platform adopted at Kansas City, and which was fully and ably represented in the presidential campaign of 1900 by William Jennings Bryan. Regarding those principles as opposed to imperialism and colonialism, as opposed to government by injunction, as opposed to trusts and trust-fostering tariffs, as opposed to financial monopoly and as opposed to all other legalized monopolies and privileges, we condemn every effort to regulate or ignore them.

In state and municipal affairs we pledge our party to a faithful application of those Democratic principles, to the end that the burdens of taxation may be equalized and home rule and local self-government be established and preserved.

REPUBLICANS ARRIGNED.

Under the long continued control of the Republican party in this state, monopoly has been fostered and protected; the farmer and the small home owners have been burdened with excessive taxes that the beneficiaries and favorites of that party might be permitted to escape their just share of the public burdens; our public institutions have been wastefully and inefficiently managed and in them scandals and cruel wrongs have been practiced upon the defenseless wards of the state; the farmers and small shippers continue to suffer from unjust discrimination at the hands of unregulated monopoly; the fine system of municipal government has been wrecked and the credit of cities destroyed, thereby producing a spirit of insecurity and unrest in all public affairs. The people can no longer trust the administration of their affairs to a party thus recklessly devoted to interests adverse to the public welfare. As a more specific statement of our principles upon these and other public questions we declare:

TAXABLE PROPERTY.

1. That all taxable property should be appraised by assessing boards which should be in session for at least a part of each year and whose proceedings and deliberations should be open to the public; that power be given to employ a representative to present the interests of the public in hearings before these boards and that in making assessments all property should be appraised at not less than its saleable value.

2. That the present laws for assessing the property of steam railroads and other public service corporations should be so changed as to compel the assessment of those properties at not less than their saleable value as going concerns and to prevent their evasion of just taxation.

CLASSIFICATION.

3. That to prevent evasion of state taxes by discriminating valuations, a separation of the sources of state and local revenues should be made. And to that end, we heartily endorse the constitutional amendment now pending before the people and to be voted on next year, which will permit classifications of taxable property.

4. That all public service corporations should be required by law to make sworn public reports and that the power of visitation and examination over such corporations should be given to the proper auditing officers to the end that the true value of the privileges had by such corporations may be made plain to the people.

FREE PASSES.

5. That the acceptance of free passes or other favors from railroads by public officers or employees should be adequate ground for their removal from office.
6. That the denial of the right of free speech and peaceful persuasion in times of labor disturbances is a denial of the right of free speech, and that government by injunction if persisted in, will wreck the liberties of the people.

MUNICIPAL CODE.

7. That we demand the enactment of a code which provides absolute home rule for municipalities which shall include the right to establish the merit system with civil service under which that system, as now in use in fire and police departments may be strengthened and perfected and be extended to other municipal departments particularly to water and lighting plants now operated by municipalities and to street car and all public service plants that may hereafter be established under municipal ownership and operation.

HANNA, COX AND FORAKER.

8. That we condemn the vicious and corrupt bargain between the boss of Cincinnati and Ohio's United States Senators to force through the legislature a code that will foist upon the municipalities of Ohio Cincinnati's form of government in order that the power of its boss may be preserved on one hand and on the other hand will perpetuate existing street railway franchises which Ohio's United States Senators represent.

9. That the municipal code should protect the public against all clauses which may be clandestinely placed therein in the special interest of public service monopolies by requiring that all ordinances granting, renewing, extending or modifying franchises shall be inoperative until confirmed by a majority vote of the people of the municipality, and we are unalterably opposed to the granting of any perpetual franchises.

SENATORIAL NOMINATIONS.

10. That until United States senators are required by amendment to the federal constitution to be elected by popular vote nominations of candidates for United States senator should be made by state conventions. And we hereby direct that in the official call for the next Democratic state convention of Ohio there be embodied a clause providing for the nomination of candidates for United States senator and a clause providing for action by said convention, upon all amendments to the state constitution then pending before the people.

Former Newark Pastor.

Word has been received here announcing the death of Rev. Thomas W. Evans of Columbus City, Iowa.

The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Daniel Thomas and William T. Evans and will be remembered by many of the old residents of this city as having been for twelve years pastor of the Welsh Congregational church and also as a charter member of the old Sons of Temperance division.

LODGE NEWS

Odd Fellows.

The Big feature of the Sovereign Grand Lodge meeting held in Des Moines, Iowa this week, was the grand parade on Wednesday afternoon, in which 27,000 Odd Fellows participated.

The parade was reviewed by Governor Cummins, Mayor Brenton, Grand Sir Goodwin and Past Grand Sir Cable. Rain this afternoon marred the day to some extent. General E. E. Lambert of Newton, Ia., was grand marshal.

The Patriarchs Militant to the number of 2,000, commanded by General M. A. Ramsey, of Iowa, headed the parade. Following were over 24,000 Odd Fellows with John B. Cochran of Indiana as chief marshal of that division.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge officers and grand representatives rode in carriages at the head of the parade.

The grand band contest occurred on Wednesday afternoon, with two dozen bands entered. Prizes aggregating $500 were offered. Following this there was a reception and banquet, with 600 covers laid. Late Young was toastmaster and toasts were responded to by Governor Cummins, Grand Sir Goodwin, Past Grand Sir Cable and other notables.

At the meeting of Newark Lodge 622 held on Monday evening only routine work was transacted. At the meeting to be held on Monday evening the initiatory degree will be conferred on several candidates.

The regular meeting of Olive Branch of Odd Fellows was held on Tuesday evening with a good attendance of the members. There was considerable business of importance transacted among which was the conferring of the third degree on one candidate.

A district meeting of the Rebekahs of this district will be held in this city on next Thursday. It is expected that there will be a large attendance and extensive arrangement are being made for the meeting. In the afternoon the floor work will be done by Etina lodge and in the evening by Licking lodge.

A special meeting of Acme Lodge No. 554, F. & A. M., was held on Thursday night for work in the degrees, and was one of the largest attended meetings ever held by the lodge. There were over one hundred members in attendance, including visitors from Hebron, Wilkin Run, Granville and Chicago. The Fellowship degree was conferred on one candidate, and the Master Mason degree was also conferred on one candidate. After the completion of the regular work a banquet was served at which all present partook. Remarks were made by a number of visiting members and also a number of the members of the local lodge.

J. L. Worth, Master of Acme Lodge, was assisted in conferring the degrees by A. A. Stasel, Master of Newark Lodge, and William Smith, Master of Hebron Lodge. It was the general expression of all present that the work could not be excelled.

Early next week a number of Newark Masons will leave for Lima to attend the meeting of the Grand Council and Grand Chapter of Ohio.

Among those who will go are L. P. Schaus, thrice illustrious Master of Bigelow Council, No. 7; Edward H. Franklin, High Priest of Warren Chapter, No. 6; D. C. Winegarner, Past Illustrious Grand Master, and William M. Cunningham, Past High Priest.

A special convocation of Warren Chapter No. 6, R. A. M., was held on Monday night, at which time the Royal Arch degree was conferred on three candidates in a most excellent manner. At the conclusion of the work a banquet was served.

At the stated convocation of Warren Chapter, No. 6, R. A. M., to be held in October, the Mark Master Degree will be conferred on four candidates.

A. O. U. W.

Golden Rod degree staff and "Hustlers Club" will meet at the lodge room Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when every member of the team is expected to be present, and all members of the order will be welcome.

The objects of the new "Hustlers" club, which has just been organized, will be explained. We intend to make this club a source of pleasure and amusement this coming winter, and a place where the members can spend

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system. Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs. I. A. O. Brown, Rumford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

a pleasant evening with profit to themselves and to the order.

The Grand lodge of the A. O. U. W. will meet in Cincinnati next year and prizes will be offered for the best drilled degree team, and Golden Rod degree staff is going after first prize.

Modern Woodmen.

On next Wednesday evening, September 24 Cedar Camp will adopt a class of candidates, after which a banquet will be served in the lodge room and every Woodmen is invited to be present as it is desired to have a large attendance on this occasion. The fall months are now here and Cedar Camp is going to make an effort to secure that much talked of state banner. Every Woodman is expected to secure at least one application. N. C. Sherburne, J. S. Brandriff are now in Toledo, attending a Deputy School.

Royal Neighbors.

Royal Neighbors held their regular meeting Tuesday evening with quite a number present. They balloted on several candidates. They will take in a class in October. Plans are maturing for a social gathering in the near future. The Royal Neighbors are expecting to visit Zanesville soon. The drill team is under headway for some fine drills.

AN OPEN SECRET.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism and that is to remove the cause of the disease. Rheumatism is a result of an excess of uric acid in the blood. Uric acid is formed by diseased kidneys. BLOOD WINE compels the kidneys to perform their work, thus stopping the flow of uric acid and absolutely curing rheumatism. Mrs. M. J. McGriffin, 431 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Mass., says: "I suffered intensely from rheumatism in my hip. After taking five bottles of BLOOD WINE my general health greatly improved, and I am now well."

BENEDICTS WILL PAY FOR THE SUPPER

New Membership Club—Entertainment Course—Educational Classes—Sunday Afternoon Meeting.

The second series of volleyball games between the single and married men in the Business Men's class, was won by the single men. Score 11 to 7. The final set will be played Monday evening to determine the score for the series of 21 games. As for the supper—the married men will pay for it this time. That is settled.

The Membership committee has held several meetings lately formulating plans for a membership campaign this fall. They have decided to launch the movement Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, at which time a "Membership Club" will be organized. This club will be made up of those members who have agreed to make a special effort to interest other men in the association and who will pledge themselves to bring in a certain number of new members by December 1, 1922. Already enough of the best men in the association have committed themselves to the movement and have said they will join the "Membership Club" to insure its success from the start.

Fifteen hundred copies of the Entertainment Course Prospectus have been distributed the past week. Monday morning Mr. Graef, the assistant secretary, will begin the active canvass for the sale of course tickets. Only as many tickets will be sold as there are seats in Taylor Hall. The tickets, good for seats on the lower floor are going very rapidly and the probabilities are that after a week's canvass there will be very few left. They can be secured now at the Y. M. C. A. office, as well as from Mr. Graef.

The attractive window cards announcing the Educational Classes for the season are bringing in many inquiries about the courses. Employees of the different shops have sent in a number of requests for information. One company of ten employees at the B. & O. shops, all of them German, have applied for a class in English, and the association has promised to secure an instructor for them. All who wish to enter any of the classes should register at once in order that the classes may be definitely arranged.

Attention is called to the series of Sunday Afternoon addresses now being given at the Y. M. C. A. by the different pastors of the city. Tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 Rev. B. F. Patt will speak.

FURNITURE FACTORY

Will Soon Be In Operation With Force of Skilled Workmen—Lane Plant Almost in Readiness—What It Will Manufacture—The Plant.

The new furniture company composed of a number of Newark's prominent business men, will probably be running on full time in about three or four weeks if everything goes as smoothly as prospects would seem to indicate. An Advocate reporter visited the site of the plant, where the old Lane brothers' plant was located, Saturday and was shown through and about the place by Secretary-Treasurer John C. Brennan.

The reason that the plant is not now in operation is no fault of any one connected with the company. There were extensive preparations necessary for the installation of the line shafting and machinery to be used, and though hangers, pulleys, etc., were ordered weeks ago, they just arrived Saturday, and it will require some time to get them in position.

When in full operation the factory expects to employ about 100 hands, and the principal article manufactured is to be a folding bed, of an improved pattern evolved by J. Gleichauf, who is to be general superintendent of the works. Other articles such as sideboards, and chiffoniers will also be made.

The company owns the three acres of the site, which is ideal for the purposes to which it will be put. It has installed its own water works system, getting the water from the canal through a six-inch main from the Fair Ground level. This will be used for the boilers and throughout the works, and is admirably adapted by its composition, being as soft as pure rain water, for the uses and needs of every department of the factory.

The office building has been repaired and thoroughly cleaned and renovated, containing a first-class vault of large dimensions for the keeping of valuable papers.

South of the office next to the main factory is the new "Improved Common Sense" dry kiln, equipped with an engine for running the fan that forces the hot air through the lumber, for the purpose of "sweating" it, by which process it is seasoned. The capacity of the kiln is 20,000 feet of green lumber, which can be thoroughly seasoned in three weeks.

The main factory is 287 feet long and 50 feet wide, running southwest, parallel with the Shawnee division of the B. & O. In this building are situated the principal machinery for planing, sawing and otherwise preparing the various furniture parts ready for finishing and assembling. Connected with this building is the glue room, where the parts are put together in permanent form.

The engine and boiler room is just north of this glue room, and the new 125 horse power engine is being placed in position under the expert direction of Mr. Ambrose Schaefer. The new boiler, 150 horse power, is in place and has been fired up and tested.

From the main shop all shavings and sawdust are taken up by a strong suction from each machine, and blown through a galvanized pipe, about 20 inches in diameter, over the roof to the boiler room fire box, where they are consumed. When little steam or fuel is needed the shavings and sawdust may be deflected into a large storage bin.

West of the boiler room about 100 feet is the ware house, finishing room and packing room, under the same roof, the latter room being connected with a side track where the furniture can be loaded on cars.

A correct idea of the new furniture company's plant can only be gained by a visit there. It is in every way convenient, commodious and well equipped.

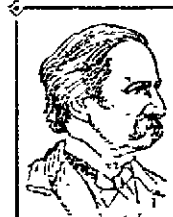

MANHATTAN—Manger Massey of the new Manhattan hotel, 10 West Church street, announces that while the formal opening of the hotel will not take place for several days owing to the incompleteness of the details, dinner will be served there for, first time Sunday to accommodate a number who will board there. The opening will be announced later.

AN OLD FAVORITE

BABYHOOD

By Josiah Gilbert Holland

JOSIAH GILBERT HOLLAND was born in Belcher-ton, Mass., Jan. 24, 1839; died in New York city Oct. 12, 1901. He studied medicine and practiced for three years. He ran a weekly paper six months, became superintendent of schools in Yorkburg, Mass., and became connected with the Springfield Republican in 1859. Some of his best work appeared first in the Republican. In 1870, with Russell Smith, he founded Scribner's (now the Century) Magazine. He wrote histories, stories, essays, letters, lectures and poems.

WHAT is the little one thinking about? Very wonderful things, no doubt! Unwritten history! Unfathomed mystery! Yet he laughs and cries, and eats and drinks, And chuckles and crows, and nods and winks, As if his head were as full of kinks And curious riddles as any sphinx!

Warped by colic, and wet by tears, Punctured by pins, and tortured by fears, Our little nephew will lose two years; And he'll never know Where the summers go— He need not laugh, for he'll find it so! Who can tell what a baby thinks? Who can follow the gossamer links By which the man in feds his way Out from the shore of the great unknown, Blind, and walling, and alone, Into the light of day?

Out from the shore of the unknown sea, Tossing in pitiful agony— Of the unknown sea that reels and rolls, Specked with the larks of little souls— Barks that were launched on the other side, And slipped from heaven on an ebbing tide! What does he think of his mother's eyes? What does he think of his mother's hair? What of the cradles that flies Forward and backward through the air? What does he think of his mother's breast— Bare and beautiful, smooth and white, Seeking it ever with fresh delight— Cup of his life and couch of his rest?

What does he think when her quick embrace Presses his hand and buries his face Deep where the heart throbs sick and swell With a tenderness she can never tell, Though she murmur the words Of all the birds— Words she has learned to murmur well? Now he thinks he'll go to sleep! I can see the shadow creep Over his eyes, in soft eclipse, Over his brow, and over his lips, Out to his little finger tip! Softly sinking down he goes! How he goes! down he goes! Now he is hushed in sweet repose!

PAINE'S Celery Compound

Is the Medicine That Has Made Thousands of Country Toilers Well and Strong.

There are thousands of farmers in our land who are rich in broad acres and gold, yet lack that true wealth known as good health.

It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from God's babbling fountains and limpid springs, are liable to the same diseases and ailments that come thick and fast to city people. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, and blood diseases almost as common in the farmer's family as they are in city homes.

Paine's Celery Compound, Heaven's best blessing to the farming community, has done more for the banishment of dread disease and the building up of health than all other combined medicines. Mr. John Zuspan, a prominent and well known farmer of Middleport, Ohio, writes specially for the benefit of sufferers in the rural districts; he says:

"Last November I was so badly crippled up with rheumatism, which came on in June, that I could hardly walk without the aid of crutches or a heavy stick. About the tenth of November I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound, and after using four bottles I was completely cured, and was able to attend to my usual work as well as when I was forty. I am now sixty-six, and can walk and run as well as a man of thirty."

DES MOINES LAUNCHED. Quincy, Mass., Sept. 20.—The projected cruiser Des Moines was successfully launched here today shortly afternoon. She is in a up to date fighting ship, 308 feet long with main battery of five inch guns and can steam 16 1/2 knots per hour. Among the distinguished party present was Gov. Cummins of Iowa.

Fame. There are many kinds of celebrity. When Haydon, the painter, visited Stratford, he held forth about Shakespeare to some rustics he met in a wayside inn. They told him that Stratford then contained "another wonderful fellow, one John Cooper."

"Why, what has he done?"

"Why, zur, I'll tell 'ee. He's lived ninety years in this here town, man and boy, and never had the tooth-ache!"—London Standard.

Where the Birds Thrive. The birds are not forgotten by the Swedish peasantry. At the door of every farmer's house is erected a pole to the top of which is bound a large, full sheaf of grain. There is not a peasant in all Sweden who will sit down with his children to dinner until he has first raised a meal for the birds.

A Great Change. Fond Mamma—Isn't baby getting big? Just see how solid he is. Papa—He does seem solid this morning, and it's remarkable, because he appeared to be all "boller" last night.—Philadelphia Record.

What He Missed. "I was so angry," said Mrs. Henpeck, "when they mistook me for a shoplifter that I just couldn't speak." "My!" he exclaimed. "I wish I'd been there."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Louis F. Settles and Jno. Varner of Nashville, were in the city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Law of Martinsville, Ill., are visiting Rev. C. W. Wallace.

There were about sixty couples present, and the evening was passed in dancing, discarding a fine oyster supper and in having a good social time.

"Then I won't contradict you," he returned.

"You don't love me," she asserted.
"I don't," he admitted.
"You're a hateful thing!" she cried.
"I am," he replied.
"I believe you are trying to tease me," she said.

"I am," he conceded.
"And that you do love me?"
"I do."

For a moment she was silent.
"Well," she said at last, "I do hate a man who's weak enough to be led by a woman. He ought to have a mind of his own—and strength."

STORIES OF SHEPHERD

Incidents in Career of the "Man Who Made Washington."

DRIVEN TO EXILE BY INGRATITUDE

His Work in Regeneration of the National Capital Unappreciated at the Time—Driven Into Bankruptcy; He Went to Mexico a Voluntary Exile. Where He Made a Vast Fortune and Lived Like a Monarch.

The career of Alexander R. Shepherd, better known as "Boss" Shepherd, who died a few days ago on his vast estate at Batopilas, Mexico, reads much like a romance. He was a native of Washington, being born there on Jan. 30, 1835. Owing to the death of his father he had to support himself at an early age and learned the carpenter's trade. A quarrel with his employer led to a change, and he became a plumber. In this he was successful and soon owned his business and had a large income. In 1892 he served as a member of a Washington military company known as the National Rifles.

In 1870 President Grant appointed him governor of what was then the territory of the District of Columbia, and he began a comprehensive system of improvements. Washington was a city of swamps and mud banks. Although elaborate plans had been made for laying out the national capital, little had been done in carrying out the improvements except in the immediate vicinity of the federal buildings. Under the law the city was to pay one-half and the national government the other of the cost of local improvements. Governor Shepherd undertook them on so extensive a scale that in little more than two years $400,000 had been expended.

The city was changed from a municipality of narrow and muddy streets to one of broad and well paved boulevards, but the enormous expenditures involved aroused so much opposition that a congressional investigation was ordered, which, however, resulted in the exoneration of Shepherd.

Following this, congress reorganized the government of the District with a board of three commissioners. President Grant appointed Shepherd one of the commissioners, but the senate refused to confirm him. He returned to his plumbing business, but was forced into bankruptcy.

Disappointed and saddened by the estimate put on his efforts by the majority of his fellow citizens, he went to Mexico, where for twenty-two years he has lived the life of an exile in the Sierra Madre mountains, developing on a gigantic scale an extensive silver mining property, which is now worth many millions of dollars. Mr. Shepherd was said to have been worth $15,000,000 at the time of his death.

Mr. Shepherd's experiences during the first few years of his residence at Batopilas were full of excitement and real danger. He was surrounded by a desperate set of Mexicans who would not hesitate to take his life for the value of a cigarette if a favorable opportunity was offered. It was a frequent occurrence for mule trains going between Batopilas and Chihuahua to be held up by brigands.

It is related that on one occasion he was going from Chihuahua to Batopilas, accompanied by two muzzos, or Mexican servants. They were riding those little mountain burros which are used exclusively in the rough travel of that part of Mexico. They had just entered a mountain pass when a shower of rocks fell in front of the burros. Mr. Shepherd and his muzzos looked up and saw about fifty feet above them an overhanging cliff the forms of five Mexicans all dressed in charro suits and each with a rifle pointed directly at Mr. Shepherd's head.

Mr. Shepherd was so terrified that he almost fell off his burro, but he had presence of mind to throw up his hands and keep them up until one of the bandits leisurely made his way down and politely told him that they meant him no harm and that they simply wanted what money and valuables he had with him. Mr. Shepherd complied with the demand very readily, and he and his muzzos were then taken in charge by the brigands and escorted through the mountain pass to a nearby cave, where the bandits had a store of good things.

Mr. Shepherd accepted an invitation to remain to dinner, and a fine repast was set and enjoyed by the visitor. After dinner an escort of two bandits was detailed to accompany Mr. Shepherd to within a few miles of Batopilas. Mr. Shepherd was so well treated by the bandits that he never reported the robbery to the Mexican authorities.

Since the development of the mines at Batopilas has become so great the shipments of silver and bullion from that camp are very large. About every two weeks a conducta, as it is called, leaves Batopilas for Chihuahua loaded with silver bullion. The average amount of bullion in each of these shipments is about $100,000.

Mr. Shepherd had a magnificent home at Batopilas, rivaling in spaciousness and beauty many of the castles of Europe.

Here he lived like a king, ruling over an estate larger than some European principalities and was known by the natives as "Don Senor Shepherd, uno Americano mas grande."

BIZET AND HALEVY.

The Story of the Origin of a Popular Air in "Carmen."

Bizet, the composer of the world famous opera "Carmen," and Halevy, his librettist, once occupied apartments whose outer doors opened on the same landing. As soon as he had finished an air Bizet would hasten to submit it to his neighbor, who subjected it to the most severe criticism. From morning to night the piano resounded in the composer's apartments. One night Bizet finished a dramatic bit in which he flattered himself he had successfully sketched the pride of a triumphant torador after a successful bullfight. But Halevy listened in silence and showed but a moderate enthusiasm. Bizet, somewhat piqued, asked the cause of this coldness.

"It's good, I admit," said Halevy. "In fact, it's too good. It lacks movement—it lacks snap—in short, it's not popular enough."

"Not popular enough!" shouted the piqued composer. "Do you want to write for the slums?" He went out in a huff, but soon relented and in an hour returned with another air. "Listen to this," said he; "here is my torador idea written down to your popular level." It was indeed the song of the torador, and the only one which on the first night received an encore and seemed to move the first night audience from its torpor.—Chicago News.

The Burmese Game of Chess.

The Burmese game seems to be rather a heavy variety of chess, the peculiarity of it being that a pawn "queens" when it strikes an imaginary diagonal line drawn from the player's left hand corner to the right hand corner in front of him—his opponent's left hand corner. The pieces are massed on the player's right hand, but the three privileged pawns there are only three allowed to "queen"—can only "queen" when the queen has been taken. We should say here that no piece equivalent to our queen really exists in eastern chess, the most powerful piece being equivalent to our rook or castle.

In the Burmese game the privilege of translation confers no higher hand on a piece than that of "chekoy"—called queen in European equivalence by virtue of its being unique—a piece possessing scarcely more power than a pawn. The usual move of the piece called "queen" in all oriental varieties of chess is one square diagonally and it is never one of the superior pieces.—London Spectator.

A Plant 1,000 Years Old.

In the town of Hildersheim, Germany, is probably the most unique plant in the world. It is a rosebush 1,000 year old and sprouts from its branches have realized fabulous sums. Some years ago a rich Englishman offered $250,000 for this entire tree, but the sum was indignantly refused. This wonderful plant clings amid thickly grown moss against the side of the famous old Church of St. Michael. It is claimed that it has bloomed perennially since the days of King Alfred, and this statement has never been disputed, for its record has been as carefully kept as the pedigree of the bluest blooded family in the kingdom. It is supposed to have been discovered by some mysterious means through the medium of King Louis of Hildersheim as far back as 1032.

Maddening.

The wife of an Edinburgh journalist said to a young unmarried friend: "Fannie, take my advice and never marry a newspaper man."

"But your husband is a newspaper man, and you seem to get along very well."

"But we don't. Every evening he brings home a big bundle of newspapers from all over the country, and it nearly drives me crazy."

"How so?"

"I read about the bargain sales in London, Manchester and other places a hundred miles off, where I can't get to them."—Scottish American.

Rather Discouraging.

"She told me she had made a study of palmistry."

"Well?"

"Well, she offered to read my palm, and I let her."

"Naturally."

"And then she told me that I was going to suffer a disappointment in love, but would get over it and marry a poor girl."

"What did you say?"

"What could I say? She's rich, and I intended to propose to her that very evening."

What Answer Could She Make?

Mother—Elsie, your sister tells me you took a second helping of pudding at Mrs. Brown's today.

Little Elsie—So I did, mamma.

"Do you think that was right, Elsie?"

"Yes. You know you have often told me not to contradict any one, and Mrs. Brown said, 'I know Elsie will have a second helping to pudding,' and I couldn't contradict her, could I?"

Washington Star.

Algy—Well, she gave up her weeds for him, and he gave up the weed for her.

NOVEL POSTAL SCHEME

Baltimore Man's Idea to Mail Letters on All Trolley Cars.

BIG BOXES TO BE PLACED ON EACH

They Would Be on the Outside of the Car, and Letters Might Be Posted Without Stopping the Vehicle. Mailing Said to Be Easier Than Boarding a Car.

The present system of collecting mail from the corner letter boxes by carrier in cities is considered crude, inadequate and not at all abreast of the needs of the times by Mr. George B. McAllister of Baltimore, a close student of postal transportation problems and who is responsible for the use of city postal cars, says a dispatch from Washington to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The successful operation in recent years of postal cars suggests the query whether all the trolley cars might not be used to an immense advantage in mail collection and transportation.

For many years Mr. McAllister has been persistently seeking to promote a public movement in favor of this idea. His efforts have attracted the most favorable public attention in Baltimore, Pittsburgh and other cities, and during the past few days he has appeared in Washington as the advocate of it.

A statement by Mr. McAllister of his interesting plan of trolley mail collections is here given:

"When first suggested, the idea to most people possibly looks visionary. Only the practical details of it, which are not apparent at first sight, lend to it the aspect of genuine common sense and plausibility.

"It is proposed to provide an absolutely exposed or coverless opening for letters on that side of every street car which is nearer the sidewalk. The best mechanical construction of this drop letter opening—for a kind of use on street cars, to be presently explained—will demand:

"First.—That it shall be a duly elongated mouth, topless aperture—that is, an entirely flush opening.

"Second.—That it shall be placed vertically, at no angle of deflection whatever, to the hand of the depositor.

"Third.—That it shall extend a sufficient distance, to be determined by experience, say ten or fifteen feet or more, along the side of the car.

"Fourth.—That it shall be provided with mechanical parts interiorly to protect letters in the mail box from the elements freely beating into it.

"The mechanical design also calls for means of discharging the mail from the receptacle at one point only, no matter how far along the car the opening may extend.

"Now, the citizen desiring to post a letter on a passing street car would go about it in the same manner precisely as he now goes about boarding a car to ride. He would, however, not use the 'near' street crossing, or that now used by intending car passengers; he would use the 'far' crossing—the 'mailing' crossing, as it would come to be named—being thus distinguishable to the motorman as a person about to post a letter.

"As the car came toward him he would, of course, step from the sidewalk to meet it. The motorman, at a proper distance from him and in the usual way, would 'down brakes,' but in this case only for a 'quarter stop' of the car, graduating the speed so that the car would pass the crossing at about the rate at which, in all our cities, cars are run when male passengers are about to board them without stoppage. This will be better explained in a moment.

"Practically the speed of the car would be little moderated, as the time required for the 'check up,' the 'drop' of the letter and the release of the brake would be, in all, three and one-half to four seconds. Since the 'drop letter' opening, however, would extend perhaps half the length of the car, experience has demonstrated that five persons could drop five separate letters, all at different points, while the car was passing.

"Now, very naturally, an impulse of prejudice leads us to believe that the act of posting a letter on a car in this way would be more difficult, more complicated than that of taking passage on a car.

"In reliability this letter posting would be something indefinitely simpler, more direct, less disconcerting to the average man, or woman either, and accomplished also with possibly a hundredth part of the difficulty or risk now involved in boarding a car. In this latter case one must remain in the street while the entire body of the car passes before one steps on the back platform, and all the while one's attention must be wholly fixed on this platform. Only a part of a second is consumed in dropping a letter.

"On the steam railway system mail is transferred from road to road. An analogous arrangement would in this case place 'transfer' agents at such points of intersection of the electric roads as would insure the nearest connection for mail 'transferred' from roads not running to the postoffice to those running there. Collections over an area of forty or fifty square miles could thus be focused at the very door of the postoffice. Retaining the 'corner' boxes, the carriers would continuously shift their small contents to the car boxes.

"Motorists do not now find children of tender age attempting to ride; they would not find them attempting to post letters on the cars when their parents could and would send them to the corner boxes, and as to 'fire blockades,' either the mail or the blockaded cars would simply be shifted to another (even contiguous) line of the local traction system."

IT MADE LEMAITRE SIGH.

A Gesture and an Accent That He Could Not Reproduce.

The Figure relates the following anecdote about Frederic Lemaître: "He had acted with marvelous success in a play by D'Ennery and Marc Fournier when one evening after the second or third performance he was suddenly addressed by a stranger, 'How much will you take to be ill tomorrow, the day after tomorrow and for a month?' 'Lemaître dragged the unknown under a street lantern and looked at him. He was a well known writer. 'It is you!' said the actor. 'Why do you wish me to be ill?'

"The other hesitated slightly as he explained his strange proposition. He was inspired by an insane hatred toward Marc Fournier and had sworn to avenge himself on his enemy by all conceivable means. 'Help me to wreck his drama,' he concluded, 'and I will make you rich. I have the means to do it. You earn a great deal. I will give you ten times as much for six months longer than your piece will last. Will you agree?' 'Lemaître had quickly recovered himself. He seized the man by the collar, shook him hard for a minute and then, with a vigorous kick, thrust him away, crying: 'How much will I take? Thirty pieces of silver, Judas!'

"An old actor who told the story added, 'How often has Frederic Lemaître sighed in my presence when he recalled the episode, 'Alas, I shall never be able to reproduce the gesture and the accent of that moment!'

Do Not Sleep on Your Left Side.

When a patient complains of a bad taste in his mouth every morning on waking up, says a physician, the first question I ask him is as to the position he assumes when going to sleep. An immense number of people sleep on the left side, and this is the most common cause of the unpleasant taste which is generally attributed to dyspepsia. If a meal has been taken within two or three hours of going to bed, to sleep on the left side is to give the stomach a task which it is difficult in the extreme to perform. The student of anatomy knows that all food enters and leaves the stomach on the right side, and hence sleeping on the left side soon after eating involves a sort of pumping operation which is anything but conducive to sound repose.

The action of the heart is also interfered with considerably, and the lungs are unduly compressed. It is probable that lying on the back is the most natural position, but few men can rest easily so, and hence it is best to cultivate the habit of sleeping on the right side. It is very largely a matter of habit, and the sooner it is acquired the better for the sleeper and the worse for the physician.

The Bucket Shop.

The name bucket shop is said to have originated in Chicago when legitimate brokers would not handle an order for less than 5,000 bushels, and a lot of places sprang up where men of small means could speculate on a trifling capital, as small as a dollar, and these speculators were spoken of contemptuously as buying and selling wheat by the bucket full. The term was eventually applied to all brokerage in stocks and grain when the amounts dealt in were smaller than legitimate dealers or brokers would handle and more particularly to places where there were really no legitimate transactions, but where the proprietor and customer simply bet on the market, the proprietor allowing the customer to take either end of the bet in consideration of a commission, which in reality is his percentage in the game.

Men and Salutes.

A recent writer says: "The Chinese man bows to the very ground when he salutes; the Russian, farther west, takes off his hat and scrapes with it his very path; in Prussian Konigsberg, always farther west, the passersby salute each other by taking off their hats or caps very low; in Berlin the head covering is raised but little; in Paris still less, in London not at all or with a difference. The American keeps his hat on immovably and never bends, but all civilized nations, of course, take off their hats to the ladies."

A Hentzen's Idea.

A Chinaman who acted as secretary to a former Chinese minister to England has published a book in which he says:

"There is nothing which an American won't say, there is nothing which an Englishman won't eat, there is nothing an Italian won't sing, there is no measure to which a Frenchman won't dance, and there is nothing Russians won't covet."

Wouldn't Lose That Pleasure.

"So you never talk about people being their backs?"

"No," answered the woman, with a grim expression. "If I knew anything which would annoy a friend, I always tell it in her presence. I wouldn't miss seeing her embarrassment for anything."—Washington Star.

A Synonym.

"What is a synonym?" asked a teacher.

"Please, sir," said a lad, "it's a word you can use in place of another if you don't know how to spell the other one."

Puzzled.

A tiny little city lay on a visit to his grandmother in the country saw her plucking a hen. He looked into her face and said, "Do you take off their clothes every night, grandma?"

An Adequate Supply.

"Henpeck has given up smoking, eh? That takes a good deal of will power."

"Yes. His wife has it."—Puck.

Harper's Ferry, the Gate to the Shenandoah Valley.—Where the three States of Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland come together; where the Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers unite; where the towering steps of the Blue Ridge end abruptly, frowning upon the heights of Maryland and the Bolivar Heights in West Virginia. This is the quaint historic town of Harper's Ferry. John Brown baptized it in blood in 1859, when he captured the town and the U. S. Arsenal and made his final and fatal stand in the engine house (known afterwards as John Brown's Fort), alongside the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. A plain shaft, simply inscribed, now marks the location.

FOOT BALL

SEASON'S OPENING TODAY AT GANVILLE

Partial Schedule of Games for Denison Is Announced—Coach Stanton is Hard at Work.

Granville, Ohio, Sept. 20.—The foot ball season at Denison university opens this afternoon with a game between the 'varsity team and one representing the 20th U. S. I., a battalion of which is encamped at Newark.

Denison's coach Frank W. Stanton who has been here since the opening day of school has been carefully training the team which is composed wholly of last year's men save one. Stanton was at Peddie Institute N. Y. for three years but entered Bucknell in 1898 and for four years played left half and for the last two years was captain. While there he played basket ball and handled the baseball team. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and is studying law. This morning he expressed satisfaction with the spirit shown by the boys and with the good snappy work thus far done.

THEY MAY FIGHT YET.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 20.—Robert C. Gray, manager of the Southern Athletic club Friday night declared the twenty round contest between Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, scheduled for next Monday night, off as far as his club was concerned. Mr. Gray announced that the $30,000 worth of tickets which have been sold for the bout will be redeemed at any bank.

The Southern Athletic club is out about $5,000, including the forfeit of $2,500 put up to insure the bringing off of the contest.

Although the Frankfort decision is conceded to be a knock-out blow for boxing contests in Kentucky, there is some belief in Louisville that the fight will yet be held Monday night. The injunction was against the Southern Athletic club and Mr. Gray, and the latter announced that his club had severed all connection with the event and submitted to the court's decree.

This, of course, leaves the field open for some other promoters to take up the contest, as neither pugilist was enjoined by yesterday's decision, nor was a ban placed upon boxing contests in Louisville.

INJUNCTION

AGAINST FIGHT SUSTAINED IN KENTUCKY.

Boxers May go Elsewhere—Results of Friday's Ball Games—Sporting News of Day.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 20.—The injunction granted Thursday by Judge Field of the Jefferson circuit court, restraining the Southern Athletic club and others from pulling off the McGovern-Corbett contest for the featherweight championship of the world at Louisville on Monday evening next was sustained by Associate Judge James D. White of the court of appeals Friday, and the contest will not be held in Kentucky.

Judge White invited the full bench of the court to sit with him and hear the case which all but one member did, and the decision is one of the court, though the motion to dissolve the injunction was made before a single member of it.

A majority of the court expressed the opinion that the glove contest, which was enjoined in the lower court is a prize fight, and that it is immaterial whether the purse was to be evenly divided. The six members of the court, sitting divided equally on the most important legal question raised in the case that of whether the chancellor had power to, by injunction, restrain the commission of a criminal act. The opinion of the court is brief. In full it reads:

"The majority of the court who heard the application to dissolve the injunction of Judge Field are of opinion that the contest which has been enjoined is a prize fight and that it is not material whether the victor in the contest is to receive more of the reward offered than the vanquished.

"The court is divided equally upon the question whether the chancellor has preventive power to restrain the holding of such a contest, the chief justice, Guffy, and Judges White and Burnam, holding the negative and Judges Durrell, Hobson and Oran holding the affirmative. The motion to dissolve is therefore denied."

The argument of the motion to dissolve consumed five hours' time, and Judge White filed his opinion after 30 minutes consultation with his associates of the court.

The argument attracted to the court many of the interested parties to the court chamber, among them Manager R. C. Gray of the Athletic club. He was sorely disappointed at the action of the court, but stated that it was final so far as his club was concerned. He said that there would be no attempt to pull off the fight anywhere in Kentucky so far as he knew. The decision is, so lawyers say, so far-reaching that it will prevent all boxing contests in Kentucky in the future.

THE RAILWAYS

BANQUET TO BE GIVEN TO MR. HAINES.

Alleged Discrimination—The L. & N. to spend a Million—The Fireman—Local Notes.

An elaborate banquet will be given at Kuster's on the North Side of the square on Monday evening in honor of W. S. Haines, who was formerly superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at this point and who recently resigned the same position at Pittsburgh. The banquet will be given by thirty of the foremen and assistant foremen of the Baltimore and Ohio shops at this point, and will be one of the most complete and elaborate affairs of the kind ever tendered a retiring officer of the company at this point. The fact that "Uncle" Joe Kuster has been given carte blanche in the affair is proof of the assertion. Mr. Haines was formerly superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore and Ohio here, and while here won the esteem and kind regards to all his subordinates and associates. The banquet is given as a slight token of the high appreciation in which he is held by his former associates in the shops here. The matter is in the hands of a capable committee of the foremen, and the menus will be most elaborate embracing turkey, canvas back duck, etc. A grand time is anticipated and will doubtless be enjoyed by all on Monday evening.

Alleged Discrimination.

Washington Sept. 20.—The interstate commerce commission on Wednesday, Sept. 24 will begin, at Wichita, Kan., hearing in the cases of the mayor and city council of Wichita, against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company for alleged discrimination of charges on export grain from Wichita to New York, the contention being that the rates are too high as compared with those from Kansas City to New York.

$1,000,000 For Repairs.

Knoxville Tenn. Sept. 20.—It is given out that the Louisville and Nashville has determined to expend about $1,000,000 on extensive repairs on the Atlantic Knoxville and Northern. This road which was acquired by the Louisville and Nashville last spring, will be the chief link in the Louisville and Nashville's proposed air line from Cincinnati to Atlanta via Jellico and Knoxville.

B. & O. Coaches.

The B. & O. has recently received a number of fine passenger coaches that will ultimately be seen through Newark. They are thus described by an exchange:

The general lines of the new coaches give forth a symmetrical appearance. The exterior is an olive green and is finished off with gold stripes. Wide vestibules with stairways extending well down to the standard height of station platforms are a pleasing feature that does away with the necessity for stepping boxes at terminals. Vestibule curtains are fastened to vertical rollers, and when not in use disappear into a recess with a vim that is refreshing. Again, if a passenger desires to raise a window, he or she need not strain and groan under intense physical exertion. Simply seize a small mechanical compression appliance at the window's base and the window swiftly opens itself. It will remain at any height desired. The inside of the coaches is finished in oak wood in the natural color. Pintsen gas appliances are supplied and the ventilating arrangement is most improved and is a wide departure from usual methods. In some respects the coaches have a Pennsylvania flavor about them, but in reality they are about as different and as much better than the average Pennsylvania coach as they are better than the average B. & O. coach.

TO TEACH FIRE FIGHTING.

Kansas City Expert Asked to Instruct English Firemen.

George C. Hale, former chief of the Kansas City fire department, has received a letter from London asking him to visit that city with a view of giving his advice and suggestions in the reorganization of the English fire fighting service, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The letter came from Horace Faulkner, secretary of the British Fire Brigades union. Chief Hale has consented and is to discuss the subject further with a committee of English fire officials whom he is to meet in New York.

Early last spring fifteen girls lost their lives in a two story building through the sloveness of the London fire department. The London papers took the matter up and drew a comparison between the work of the London firemen and the methods of the Kansas City firemen, who gave an exhibition under Chief Hale at the Crystal Palace. Chief Hale has twice taken a Kansas City fire team to Europe in competition with the best departments in the world and each time returned victorious. Hale was ousted as chief of the Kansas City department a few months ago on account of his politics.
